

PULL-A-PART ANNOUNCES 2007 EXPANSION

ATLANTA – Pull-A-Part, a used automotive parts retailer based in Atlanta, will expand its operations into at least seven new markets in 2007: Baton Rouge, La.; Cleveland, Ohio; Jackson, Miss.; Knoxville, Tenn.; Lafayette, La.; Montgomery, Ala.; and New Orleans.

“We are very excited about our expanding into these new markets.” said Ross Kogon, Pull-A-Part’s Chief of Staff. “We look forward to bringing our customers great service, huge savings and becoming a trusted resource and partner with these communities.”

The newly announced expansion plans come on the heels of the company’s successes last year in which two facilities were opened in Augusta, Georgia and Louisville, Kentucky.

Pull-A-Part prides itself on being an award-winning environmentally friendly business. The company recycles approximately 2,000 tons of automobiles per facility each month. Also, each location recycles approximately 50,000 gallons of oil, gasoline, brake fluid, transmission fluid and antifreeze, as well as thousands of lead-acid batteries, annually. As a result of these efforts, millions of pounds of waste are diverted from local landfills each year, earning Pull-A-Part first place honors in the Waste Reduction and Recycling category at the 2006 Keep Georgia Beautiful awards, and the Tennessee Chamber of Commerce & Industry (TCC&I) award for outstanding environmental accomplishments.

Pull-A-Part is building and opening soon in several markets across the Eastern U.S. They will open in Montgomery, Ala. and Knoxville, Tenn. late second quarter of 2007. Their locations in Cleveland, Ohio, Lafayette, La., New Orleans; Jackson, Miss.; and Baton Rouge, La. will open third quarter 2007.

Founded in 1997, Pull-A-Part is a fourth-generation, family-owned used auto parts retailer that provides low cost auto parts to the public as it properly prepares raw materials for metal recycling. Pull-A-Part is currently located in Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, North Carolina and Tennessee. For more information, visit www.pullapart.com.
